OVER 5,000 ROLLS

NEW CARPETS!

We have here one of the largest carpet stocks in America. That's a positive fact.

Mere bigness isn't an advantage in everything, but in Carpets, as in Dress Goods, it is When one buys Carpets she wants to have the largest resources at her command and she wants to be sure she'll not miss anything she ought to see.

There's nothing good in floor-coverings you can't get here and there are many exclusive styles you won t see anywhere else Altogether we have over a thousand handsome new pat terns in

New Axminsters, New Velvets, New Body Brussels,
New Ingrains, New Mattings, New Wiltons,
New Moquetts, New Tapestries, New Oilcloths New Linoleums, and added to all other advantages of resources, experience, taste and skill there's no other store with the ability and the motive to sell so cheap.

We sell Housefuruishings as well—such things as Curtains, Draperies, Pictures and Upholsteries. We have here the biggest and best Carpet business between New York and Chicago and the importance of the fact is our reason for emphasizing it as much.

BELL BROTHERS,

Hon. C. W. Stone Renominated for Congress.

The conferees of the 27th Congressional district, composed of the counties of Warren, Venango, Cameron and McKean, met at Kane last Friday afternoon and re-nominated the Hon. C. W. Stone to a seat in the 55th Congress. This is a proper recognition of an able and honorable man. Mr. Stone's position since he entered Congress has been one of leadership From the first he was recognized as a man of marked ability, and he did not disappoint his constituents. This re nomination is but a fitting tribute to an able statesman and reflects credit upon the 27th district. If other districts would follow the example set, the halls of Congress would be filled with men of ability. This ceaseless changing every session, or at least every other session, is simply advocated for the purpose of passing the office around. and not for the good of the country or the benefit of party. Any State or any Congressional district that secures an able and honest Senator or Representative, and does not re-elect them, is doing an irreparable injury to the country. This changing and sending new men to Congress, only tends to keep that State or district, in the background: they never have any influence in national legislation.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

—Read A. T Palmer's new adv.

—Father Galligan is slowly improving.

—John E. Chadwick moved to Butler this week.

—The court appointed C. M. Colegrove, F W Brownell and J. C Gallup to view and establish the line between the first and second district of Keating township.

—A conundrum supper will be served by the ladies of the Baptist church at the residence of Sheridan Gorton on Tuesday evening, April 28 From 5 30 to 9 o'clock

—Mrs. E. M Kerns, who has been sick for some time, does not improve any, but as warm weather approaches it is hoped she will soon recover her usual good health.

—The new advertisements this week are Marcus, Bell Bros, and Bloodsworth, of Olean, the Rambler bicycle, Wm. Hengerer & Co., of Buffalo. Read them. They all have something that will interest you.

—The moon is now right to plant your sweet peas and other garden "sass" which will not grow unless planted "in the moon"—Olean Democrat Neighbor, your garden rake must have a very long handle in order to plant your "sass" up there.

—Two Barre-granite monuments have just arrived at the works of W. H. Prentiss. One is to be placed on the lot of the late J. C Stull and the other is to be set in St. Bernard's cemetery, at Bradford, for the late Mr. Bissett. There is also another on the road which will be placed at the graves of the sons of Mrs. H. A Elliott, in Kinzua cemetery.

—Those who participated in the post-lenten festivities report having a most enjoyable time. This entertainment was given for the benefit of Father Galligan who has been sick for a long time. A goodly sum was realized, which will be very acceptable to the reverend gentleman under the circumstances. The management of the affair are deserving of a great deal of credit for their work in the matter.

—There was a rather dishonorable practice perpetrated upon the managers of the Post-Lenten dance at the Opera House last Monday night. Those who wished to dance purchased a ticket for a dollar, while those who did not indulge in the terpsichorean pleasure were admitted for 10 cents. Quite a number must have taken advantage of this and borrowed tickets from their friends after entering, thus giving them the privilege of dancing. Such practice at a charitable ball is, to say the least, most dishonorable. A person who would take advantage of such an opportunity, if found out, should never be permitted to enter the place again.

—The Oil City Derrick, of Tuesday, mentions a lady of Franklin, Pa., who has sued a man for breach of promise for $10,000 damages for a lacerated heart. She is 35 and the defendant is 34 years of age. They commenced courting in 1881, and in 1882 became engaged. And ever since that had been swinging on the front gate together—swapped gum as lovers are generally supposed to do, until the 9 th of last month, when the heartless wretch married another girl. He should be tarred and feathered for thus breaking the heart of a young and confiding maiden, after fourteen years of sweet ecstatic. Why, their courtship was almost old enough to vote, 14 years is too long to keep a confiding damsel in suspense.

G. A. R. Encampment Notes.

The Thirtieth Annual Department Encampment will be held at Chambersburg, June 3 1 and 4th Comrades and Posts not yet provided with quarters should address Comrade E L. Wesley, Chambersburg, Pa. Tents will be provided on a magnificent camping ground

The railroad rates for the Encampment have been fixed at one fare for the round trip, to be sold good going May 30th to June 6th, good returning to and including June 8th. The railroad companies have provided two routes for returning from Chambersburg—one route being direct, the other via Gettysburg.

Comrades and friends who contemplate participation at Chambersburg should early arrange as to whether they will return direct or via Gettysburg. Inquiry at local railroad stations will determine the exact amount of fare.

On June 5th the Gettysburg Battle Field Association will dedicate monuments to those distinguished Pennsylvania soldiers, Major Generals Geo. G. Meade, and Winfield S. Hancock, at Gettysburg, aand every old soldier is cordially invited to participate in the ceremonies, to which all friends of the veterans will be welcome.

The Committee of Arrangements at Chambersburg has provided for excursions by rail or otherwise to battlefields, camps, bivouacs and other places of interest readily accessible and at low rates of fare.

W. H. Prentiss has recently secured the services of Mr. C E Corwin, an expert finisher and letterer, who now has charge of the Excelsior Marble Works. Monuments re-set, lettered, renovated, etc Send in yours now.

W. R. C. Supper.

The ladies of the W. R. C. gave a fine supper at the G. A. R. hall last Wednesday night which was well patronized and very much appreciated by those who attended. The hall was well decorated with bunting fine flowers in profusion graced the room, appetizing eatables loaded the tables and the aroma of the fine coffee reached out on the street and seemed to act as a guide to steer all passers by up-stairs, where a fine supper and excellent service well repaid them for climbing two flights of stairs. The receipts above expenses were $35.

Too much praise cannot be given to the noble work of the relief corps. Many a poor old veteran has found that the ones who staid at home in grief while fathers, husbands, brothers and lovers fought to preserve a nation, are now standing ready to aid them as they are drawing near to the last roll call and they will stand before the great commander of the universe and all battles and strifes be at an end.

A Cripple Creek at Home.

It is reported that gold-bearing quartz has been discovered near Sizerville, Potter county According to the story a farmer named Ab Ludwig, who resides on Cowley run, three miles from Austin, discovered near his home some peculiar rock containing streaks of yellow, and out of curiosity sent a specimen of the quartz to a Rochester assayer, who informed the astonished farmer that it would yield $150 worth of gold to the ton. A company, it is said, will be formed to make a thorough exploration of the Ludwig farm —Reporter.

PEAS FOR HOME AND MARKET.

Brief Cultural Notes—Some of the More Promising Novelties—Standard Sorts.

For the early crop, sowing is done in February, March or April, according to latitude—in a word, as soon as the soil can be worked. For succession repeated sowings are made every two weeks up to the 1st of June. Then, as a rule, sowing ceases, but if you want a crop for fall use sow again about the middle of August, and the chances are you will get a fair crop.

For early crops a light, rich soil with application of decomposed leaf mold gives best results.

For the general crop a deep loam or a soil inclined to clay will be found favorable. A good dressing ought to be applied, especially for the dwarf growing kinds, which require a rich soil. The general crop is almost never staked, being sown in single rows and from two to three feet apart, according to the variety When grown in small quantities in the garden, peas are generally sown in double rows six or eight inches apart, and the tall varieties staked off with brush or on a trellis.

NEW LIFE PEA.

Among varieties that are catalogued as novelties is Carter's pea, the Daisy, a wrinkled and fine flavored intermediate kind. The Juno is described as a dwarf, main crop, wrinkled marrow pea, prolific and of good flavor. Nott's Excelsior, it is claimed, is a most valuable variety among the dwarf early wrinkled peas. The New Life pea is liked because of its large, dark green pods borne on dwarf vines. It possesses many of the good qualities of the well known Stratagem.

Among extra early peas that have been tested are, first of all, Chelsea, Tom Thumb, American Wonder, Premium Gem, Little Gem, Laxton's Extra and Alaska. Included with tested medium or second early peas are Abundance, McClean's Advancer, Horsford's Market Garden, Shropshire Hero and Admiral.

Well known among the main or late crop peas are the Marrowfats, Telephone, American Champion, Champion of England, Evolution and Pride of the Market.

In Early Gardening.

A woman gardener tells American Agriculturist that she has abandoned a lettuce bed. She writes:

In earliest gardening I mix lettuce with other seeds, especially with onion, beet and similar slow germinating varieties. The lettuce comes up soon and makes it easy to keep the row clear of weeds until the other seeds are up. The lettuce then is pulled as space is needed. Lettuce, and radishes, too, are sown together the summer through, making a succession of both, and having them crisp and tender. Root crops occupy so little space at first that lettuce does not interfere at all, and the pulling is a benefit, loosening the earth about them. I often mix other seeds, putting cabbage as I want them to stand with early lettuce or radishes, and tomato seed with later crops that are to be pulled up. Thus I economize space, time and labor.

A New Business.

The New England Homestead calls attention to the advice given by Professor Britton of the Connecticut station that a few young men of each township obtain spraying outfits and make a business of spraying their neighbors' crops with sufficient frequency and thoroughness to insure against blights, rots and insects. J. H. Hale favored such co-operative spraying and thought fruit growers could afford to pay for it on a sliding scale. Thus, if an apple orchard yielded 95 per cent of perfect fruit, he might pay a certain amount per tree for the spraying, whereas if it only yielded 35 per cent of perfect fruit the payment would be reduced in proportion. He believed that this would be a great incentive, as the boys would work for the increased pay.

Labor Saving Device.

Where one must use a crosscut saw alone in fitting wood for the stove, such a device as the one here reproduced from The Farm Journal will save labor. A heavy piece of timber is suspended to swing easily on a hook. Insert one end of the saw at the lower end and begin to saw. The weight of the timber will act like a balance wheel and greatly aid in running the saw. The long hook permits the saw to fall as the log is sawed.

SAW WORKED BY ONE MAN.

common wheat drill, using one bushel of seed per acre. They will show above ground in three or four days, and will be a foot high and cover the ground entirely in four weeks. In 60 days they will be two feet high and such a dense mass of vines and foliage that a man can scarcely walk through them. They will ripen seed in 80 days. We speak of early varieties. There are many which are too late in maturing to be valuable in the north.

These peas make most excellent fall pasture for either cattle or hogs, even after they have been cut by frost in autumn. They are a great milk producing food, being very similar to clover in analysis, and, like clover and all other legumes, have the ability to draw nitrogen from the atmosphere and subsoil. In fact, with crimson clover and cowpeas it is possible to have every otherwise vacant piece of ground constantly covered with an inexpensive nitrogen gathering and humus producing crop that may be utilized for pasture, soiling, hay, ensilage or left to enrich the land, for all of which uses they are well adapted.

It is good practice to sow these peas among growing corn just previous to the last cultivation, which covers them sufficiently, and then, after the peas are high enough to shade the ground somewhat, sow crimson clover on them, which is almost sure to succeed under these circumstances. Thus you have a crop of corn, a fall crop of cowpeas and a winter and spring crop of clover all on your land, with very little expense in the two latter crops except for seed.

Admiral Porter Will Case.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Justice Gray delivered the opinion of the supreme court in the case involving the validity of the will of the late Admiral Porter. The proceedings were instituted by Mrs. Elena Campbell, daughter of the admiral, because of an alleged discrimination against her in the codicil to the will. The case came from the supreme court of the District of Columbia on an allegation of error, the decision there sustaining the validity of the will and the codicil. The opinion rendered by Justice Gray reversed the decision and remanded the case for further proceedings, on the ground that the district supreme court had no jurisdiction in probate proceedings involving an effort to pass real estate

THE HOUSEWIFE'S FRIEND.
This very desirable kitchen utensil has been invented and patented by Mrs. Kate Freeman Taylor, of Smethport, Pa.
The device is admirably arranged for its peculiar work, and will quickly reduce boiled Potatoes, Turnips, Pumpkins, Carrots or other vegetables of like nature, to a fine, smooth pulp entirely devoid of lumps. The body of the device is cylindrical, with a wire mesh bottom in which the vertical crank shaft turns, the upper bearing having a span bar secure across the top. At the lower part of the shaft are rigidly secured a pair of radical wings which are inclined at an angle towards the direction of rotation, and whose lower edges rake closely upon the seive bottom. A pair of stiff wire arms also project at right angles to the blades or wings and serve as stirrers and breakers.
It is peerless for Whipping Cream, Beating Eggs, making Frosts or Snows. Apple sauce without paring or coring the apples; Pumpkin without pairing, as it retains all the best flavor which is in the skin. Cranberry sauce, Chili sauce, without chopping or draining, also. Scald the ripe tomatoes, turn through and they are ready to boil. Two thirds of your time saved. Write for descriptive circulars.
☞ Negotiations for the disposal or development of this patent are under the direct supervision of the Patentee.

DR. BRIGGS CASE AGAIN.

Old Question Bobs Up Most Unexpectedly.

FOLLOWED BY SOME ACRIMONY.

New York Presbytery Heard an Emphatic Speech on the Subject, Which Threatened to Bring on a Lively Debate, But Averted.

NEW YORK, April 21.—An adjourned meeting of the presbytery of New York was held in the chapel of the First church Rev Dr Chamb rs, moderator, presided, and the proceedings at one stage were marked by just a suspicion of acrimony. The moderator prelate of Union Theological seminary felt called upon to denounce as false the sentiments expressed by one of the opponents of the report prepared by a committee on the minutes of the general assembly

It was really a rehearing, or airing, of the old Briggs controversy under a new guise. Here is the section of the report which caused the split:

"But the assembly further proceeds to enjoin this presbytery as to its action with reference to the licensure of these students. In thus attempting to authoritatively control this presbytery in this matter, it seems to us that the general assembly exceeds its constitutional powers and infringes upon the inherent rights of the presbytery, which are specifically reserved to it by our constitution as to the exercise of its functions in the reception and licensure of candidates for gospel ministry"

The report was signed by John C Bliss, chairman, W Atterbury and George H Hyde.

Rev J Ford Sutton, one of the speakers, alluded to the history of the early church and said that it was perfectly well known that the synod of Philadelphia during its entire history, exercised the right to ordain men as well as to license them and also limited the presbytery He stated that when the reunion was effected it was agreed that the majority should rule and that the minority must acquiesce or get up and get He declared that certain men in the presbytery were clamoring not for secession but nullification He also declared that by implication the general assembly had perfect right to deal with the Union Theological seminary

Dr Sutton then more particularly referred to the Union Theological seminary and its action in sustaining Dr Briggs. This aroused the ire of a number of those present and the doctor was repeatedly interrupted by cries of "Point of order" He kept right along and said among other things

"I have shown how a great schism had arisen in the church, instead of taking measures to divest this man (Dr Briggs) of his power of teaching and preaching they voted to sustain him, and have been doing ever since as much and more to spread the dangerous heresies for which he was condemned Here we have the spectacle of the student of the Union Theological seminary asking for admission"

Mr Sutton did not finish his paragraph He was interrupted by Dr Hastings, president of Union Theological seminary, who arose and addressed the moderator He said

"I make the point of order, Mr Moderator, that the speaker charges what is false against Union Theological seminary It is not here on trial and this tirade against it is altogether apart from the question which is under discussion I ask that he be asked to stick to the subject, although I have no hope that he will"

At the conclusion of his address Mr Sutton said that he was sorry if in his zeal he had hurt anyone's feelings

Navigation Opened at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, April 21 — Navigation has opened at this port and the first fleet cleared for Chicago. DESTRUCTIVE TORNADO.

Ohio Farms Devastated by a Terrific Storm.

SOME LOSS OF LIFE ENTAILED.

Houses, Barns and Other Buildings Leveled and Great Damage to Property Resulted—Two Persons Killed and a Number Are Injured.

FREMONT, O, April 21.—A tornado, accompanied by a heavy rainfall, swept over the northern part of Sandusky county, killing two persons, injuring a number of others and doing great damage to property.

The tornado came from the southwest with great fury, and every building it struck was swept away. After smashing a road bridge and blowing a big tree across a Wheeling and Lake Erie freight train, it crushed the caboose and came near killing a number of trainmen. The wind began to play havoc with farm buildings.

The barns of Jacob Engler, J. Heffelinger, Upton Borgen and Anthony Swintfirst went down before it

The house of James Green was destroyed Green's aged father, William L Green, was killed outright, his wife fatally hurt, and the baby carried across the road in its cradle The child escaped uninjured.

Next, the barn of Amos Hetrick, in which Hetrick and John Low were shearing sheep, was crushed. Low was blown across a field against a tree, being instantly killed.

Other buildings destroyed were the barns of A. Fairchild, William Hensel, Perry Parish, George Waggoner and Charles Tucker Tucker's child was badly hurt

At Booktown, a hamlet near here, nearly all the buildings were destroyed, but there was no loss of life The storm covered a wide track, and it is possible that further damage will be reported.

IMMENSE DAMAGE BY FLOODS.

Rivers In Eastern Canada Still Raging. Freshets Elsewhere.

MONTREAL, April 21 —The floods in the St Francis river valley at Sherbrooke and Richmond and on the River St Lawrence at Three Rivers, Nicolet and other points, continue to do immense damage.

The water in the St. Francis receded but another rise took place and Richmond was again inundated

One-fourth of the city of Three Rivers is under water and the authorities had 10 boats removing families from their homes The electric light works are flooded and the city is in darkness Traffic on the Drummond County railway is paralyzed through washouts and bridges being swept away

Advices received at Sorel state that 24 houses were swept away from Ile de Grace and St. Anne.

The Lake St Peter ice is moving and will likely relieve some of the flooded districts within a few hours.

Man Drowned In a Flood.

MALONE, N. Y, April 21 —High water has done considerable damage in Franklin county. Three bridges on the St Regis river at St Regis Falls were swept out, carrying away a portion of a large mill owned by the Santa Clara Lumber company William Gero, an employe of the mill, was thrown into the water and drowned The body has not yet been recovered and was doubtless carried far from the place of the fatality by the current Saranac River Overflowed.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y, April 21 —Buildings along the banks of the Saranac river are flooded on account of the unusually high water which was caused by the melting of the enormous quantity of snow that was on the ground. Woodruff and Bassett streets are under two feet of water Bridges are unsafe and wood piles and other valuable property have been carried away. The ice in the lakes has broken up, but has not yet gone out.

Damage by Black River Floods.

WATERTOWN, N Y, April 21 — The bridge that spanned Black river at Folts Mills was washed out by the high water No one was injured Loss, $10,000 The river is slowly receding Mill property along Black river has been greatly damaged.

LYNCHING NARROWLY AVERTED.

Infuriated Women Attempted to Punish an Unnatural Mother's Crime.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 21 —Because she refused to reveal the hiding place of her newborn babe, Miss Annie Boatner of Hickory Ridge was nearly lynched by a crowd of infuriated women of that place

They placed a clothesline about her neck, but not until it was considerably tightened did she admit giving birth to a child She then showed the women where she had buried the child on a lot and made a confession of her crime

A number of men kept the women at bay, else they would most likely have lynched her

Miss Boatner is now lying in a critical condition in the poorhouse and is under police surveillance pending an inquest by the coroner

Cold Weather In the Far West.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Southern California has just experienced the coldest weather for the season of which the weather bureau has record for that region. Heavy frost is reported from Los Angeles and minimum temperatures of 42 occurred at San Francisco and San Diego and 38 at Los Angeles, which were as low as at San Francisco and San Diego, and at Los Angeles one degree lower than any previously recorded by the weather bureau during the second 10 days of April. Light frosts were also reported from the state of Washington.

Editor Harte Resigns.

BUFFALO, April 21.—A special from East Aurora says that Walter Blackburn Harte, the wellknown Boston essayist, who came here April 1 to take charge of Elbert Hubbard's Philistine, has severed all connection with the magazine and will leave town at once.

JUSTIFIED THE KILLING.

Supreme Court Exonerates an Indian Who Protected His Wife.

WASHINGTON, April 21. — In the case of Edward Alberty vs. the United States, the supreme court decided that in proceedings in criminal cases arising in the Indian territory, the victim of the crime shall be considered as a party to the proceedings in determining jurisdiction. The case was, however, reversed on other grounds of error.

Alberty, a Cherokee, killed Duncan, a negro, while the latter was trying to get into the bedroom of his (Alberty's) wife. Exception was taken to the instructions of the court below in regard to Alberty's conduct in this connection.

"We think," says Justice Brown, who delivered the opinion, "that a man who sees another trying to obtain access to his wife's room in the night time by opening a window, may not only remonstrate with him, but may employ such force as may be necessary to prevent his doing so; and if the other threatens to kill and makes a motion as if to do so, and puts him in fear of his life, or of great bodily harm, he is not bound to retreat, but may use such force as is necessary to repel the assault."

The judge in the court below had instructed the jury that the fact that Alberty had fled after the crime was an evidence of guilt, quoting the adage, "The wicked flee when no man pursueth, but the righteous are as bold as a lion."

Of this Justice Brown remarked that while it was good Scripture, it was not a correct definition of law nor a proper guide to a jury.

A new trial was ordered.

Silver Democrats In Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, April 21.—The silver men of Alabama are in the saddle here today. They will control the Democratic state convention and it is apparent that they place the Democracy of their state on a 16 to 1 free coinage platform.

Joseph F. Johnston of Jefferson county will be nominated for governor by a vote of 356 to 148, although this does not represent or approximate the vote that will be cast on the free silver proposition. Many of the Johnston delegates are sound money men, who supported Captain Johnston because of his presumed availability, good capacity and party service.

All the minor state officers will be renominated excepting auditor, treasurer and commissioner of agriculture, whose second term expires in December and whose successors will be named today.

McKinley Meeting at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, April 21.—An enthusiastic McKinley massmeeting was held in Alhambra hall here. The attendance was about 2,000 As a result of the meeting a committee was appointed for the purpose of perfecting an organized branch of the state McKinley league. The meeting was a rousing demonstration of the sentiment of the community in favor of William McKinley as the Republican candidate for president William P. Goodelle of this city was chairman, and the speakers were John E Milholland, Senator Frank D. Pavey, Thomas St John Gaffney, Lovell H, Jerome, and Colonel C. H. Dennison, all of New York city, and George E. Matthews of Buffalo, president of the McKinley league of the state.

To Surrender David Breen.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The secretary of state has issued a warrant for the surrender to the British authorities of David Breen, now held in custody in New York on a charge of embezzling £175,000 in Dublin, Ireland.

Epilepsy 20 Years.

Cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

A few years ago, Mr. L. W. Gallaher, was an extensive, successful expert manufacturer of lumber products. Attacked with epilepsy, he was obliged to give up his business. The attacks came upon him most inopportunely. One time falling from a carriage, at another down stairs, and often in the street. Once he fell down a shaft in the mill, his injuries nearly proving fatal. Mr. Gallaher writes from Milwaukee, Feb. 16, '95.

"There are none more miserable than epileptics. For 20 years I suffered with epileptic fits, having as high as five in one night. I tried any number of physicians, paying to one alone, a fee of $500.00 and have done little for years but search for something to help me, and have taken all the leading remedies, but received no benefit. A year ago my son, Chas. S. Gallaher, druggist at 191 Reed St., Milwaukee, gave me Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I tried it with gratifying results. Have had but two fits since I began taking it. I am better now in every way than I have been in 20 years."

IT would be very gratifying to Cleveland if murderer Holmes would confess to having killed the Democratic party.

GEORGE STEVENS and Ira Bradley were nominated by the Republican county convention of Potter, for Commissioners last Tuesday

THE Democratic State convention will meet at Allentown, on Wednesday, April 29 A B Armstrong is a delegate from this county.

THE pleasant weather of the past week has had a tendency to bring out a few hardy Democrats with nerve sufficent to declare themselves candidates for office

THE defeated candidates have been kept busy since the convention explaining how it happened that they got left. Some are too dazed even yet to realize how it occurred.

IN spite of all newspaper reports to the contrary, we are inclined to believe that the Hon F. C. Leonard will carry off the honors of the 16th Congressional district for the 55th Congress.

THE Democratic National platform this year will undoubtedly contain a free silver plank While the Republican National platform will have a sound money plank. Protection and finance are the issues upon which the two parties will line up in the coming presidential campaign. That honest money and protection will win there can be no question.

THAT war horse of free trade, J. Denton Hancock, was nominated by the Democrats of Venango, at Franklin last Monday as their candidate for Congress in this, the 27th district, composed of the counties of Warren, McKean, Venango and Cameron. The rest of the district will endorse Mr Hancock, which will make it very gratifying to the Democrats in this section, as they will again have the pleasure of voting for the redoubtable free trader.

THE highest honor that can be paid any economic system is that which is paid to the protective system in the fact that after 30 years' experience we have cheapened every manufactured product and our labor has held its own. The manufactured article seems to have gone down in price, but the wage that the workmen receives has not been reduced. Match that if you can. Free Trade cheapens the article by cheapening the artisan. Protection cheapens the article by elevating the artisan.—Hon. Wm. McKinley.

HERE is consolation for despondent Democrats. At the county convention held at Franklin last Monday by the unterrified the following resolution was adopted:

"First—We congratulate the party on having conferred upon the country a national administration that stands to-day, and will be considered in history, one of the greatest administration the country has ever possessed."

What will the spirits of the departed Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson think of the above resolution?

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co, Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

It is not a miracle. It won't cure everything, but it will cure piles. That's what DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will do, because it has done in hundred's of cases. A. W Colegrove, Smethport, and A. E Stickles, East Smethport.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 22, 1896.—Mr. Cleveland's kindergarton, called by courtesy his Cabinet, is in a state of error. Hilary Herbert is in disgrace and Hokey Smith is afraid that it will be his turn next. Hilary's disgrace was brought about by his having given pedagogue Cleveland false reports as to the conditions of affairs at his home. He told Mr. Cleveland that the free silver Democrats of Alabama were more noisy than numerous and that the recent primaries would show the State overwhelmingly for sound money. He is sorry now that he told that, and he won't forget the half hour he spent with Mr. Cleveland after it had become known that the silver democrats had captured the State bag and baggage. Hokey Smith had brought the same report about Georgia, and according to ex-Speaker Crisp and other silver Democrats, they will be found to be no more trustworthy than those of Hilary Herbert. Mr. Cleveland is just beginning to realize that the silver Democrats are much more likely to control the Chicago convention than he is, and the realization hasn't added to his amibility.

The last Appropriation bill is now before the House and will be probably be passed this week. Then the House will have to act on the Senate amendment to those appropriation bills which have not yet been finally disposed of before being ready for adjournment. Republicans in the House have no fear of Gorman's threat that the present Congress will be arraigned on the stump as a do-nothing body. In fact they hope the Democrats will make such an attempt The record of the present House has never been excelled for business like procedure, and the more the Democrats say about the failure of Congress to relieve the treasury, the more creditable will appear the action of the House in promptly passing the revenue tariff bill that failed in the Senate.

The conclusion of the House committee on Ways and Means not to report a bill providing for a restoration of the reciprocity policy originated by the late James G Blaine, which was benefitting American producers and manufacturers when repealed by the Democratic tariff bill, is on all fours with common sense. The hearings before the committee left no doubt that public sentiment favors a return to the reciprocity, but that return being impossible while a Democratic President is in office, the committee wisely decided not to waste time in preparing a bill and putting it through the Republican House only to have it hung up by the nondescript Senate, as the revenue tariff bill was, or vetoed by Mr Cleveland if it got through the Senate. Reciprocity will come, along with the other good things which will follow the restoration of the Republicans to the control of all branches of the government.

Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, is one of the heavy hitters on the Republican side of the House, and he struck a knock out blow when he said to the Democratic side of the House, "You are paralyzed by your own utter inefficiency. The great feature of the administration of Grover Cleveland—the only feature that will save him from future contumely—is that when the bill to repeal the great revenue producing industry, propagating tariff law was presented to him, he said 'My name shall never disgrace its pages.' You are attempting to place in contrast an administration that paid $250,000,000 of the public debt with one that borrowed $260 000,000 and now tremble each day least the telegraph brings the news that the gold so borrowed is drifting across the water."

Bradford National Brewery.

The stockholders of the Bradford National Brewery held a meeting at the St. James Saturday afternoon and elected the following officers: President, W. S. Byers, of Greensburg; Secretary and Treasurer, John Kerr, of Pittsburg; Manager, L. A. Eichallier, of Jeanette, Pa.

Plans for the brewery building were submitted by V. Wyss Thalman, architect, and accepted by the stockholders. The estimated cost of the building is $180,000. Three acres of land has been purchased from Andrew Balton, at a cost of $3.000. The land purchased lies on the corner of Bennett and Brookline streets.

Work will be commenced on or before May 1 Application has already been made for a license and it is expected that the plant will be in working order before Oct. 20. The brewery will have a manufacturing capacity of 80.000 barrels per year and the storage vaults will hold 60,000 barrells.

The brewery will be an important addition to Bradford's industrial establishments and will give employment to a large number of men. A large amount of the stock has bee subscribed by Bradford men —Era

A morning express train will leave the Broad street station daily at 9:05 a m after arrival of the night express trains from all portions of the Pennsylvania Railroad system, and arrive at Atlantic City at 10 55 a m.

An afternoon express train will leave Broad street station daily at 7 p. m., and arrive at Atlantic City at 8:50 p m. This train will connect with the Day Express and Main line express from all points in Pennsylvania and the North and West, and the train leaving Washington at 3:15 p m and Baltimore at 4:20 p m.

Returning a morning train will leave Atlantic City daily at 10:10 a. m., and connecting with the Pennsylvania Limited and the fast line to the West and North, and the 12 09 noon train for Baltimore and Washington. Another train will leave Atlantic City daily at 4 55 p m arriving at Broad street station at 6 40 p. m., and connecting with the 6.55 p. m train for Baltimore and Washington and the evening trains for all points on the Pennsylvania system.

All of these trains will carry parlor cars

An excursion fare of twenty-five cents will be charged in each direction on trains via the Delaware River Bridge, in connection with tickets good via Market street ferry, Philadelphia.

By the opening of this new all-rail route to the sea-shore the transfer of passengers and baggage through Philadelphia will be avoided, and, as will be seen by the connections given above, the territory from which passengers can reach Atlantic City in a daylight journey has been extended in every direction—to Pittsburg, Buffalo, Danville, and Norfolk, Va

We'd have to pay the newspapers hundreds of dollars to advertise our new suit and silk waist department. if it wasn't for our $11 00 suits for $7.95. Every woman that gets one sends us two or three friends and that's the best advertising that we know of. See how it works. Does'nt cost us a penny more in the end—and you appreciate that dollar saved.

Does it pay to buy a garment of a firm that is not absolutely reliable? We find it does'nt on our side. If a merchant says you cannot do any better elsewhere should you then and there pay him your good money? No, go and see them all and ours last for we know how we stand. If we didn't we would'nt be carrying the largest and most up-to-date line of suits, silk waists, tea gowns, skirts etc in Bradford As far as prices go you know that the one who buys in the largest quantity can give the lowest prices. If you call on us we can guarantee fit price and style.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

—Mrs. Kittredge has been ill for a few days.

—The license applications appear in another column.

—There were about forty attorneys in attendance at court.

—There are several new applicants for wholesale liquor license.

—Sheriff Walker has only eight steady boarders at the present time.

—Geo. Boyer will please accept thanks for a nice roll of butter left at this office last week —The Olean Tramp has changed its name and will be known hereafter as the Olean Ledger.

—The palace coach came over on the B. B & K. R. R. Monday loaded with court dignitaries.

—The fine weather last Sunday caused many a young swain to hire a livery rig and take his best girl for a ride.

—Mrs. Andrew Dunbar, of Ormsby presented her husband with a bright little girl of regulation size last Sunday.

—The wood work of the barn of A. B. Armstrong was completed last week, and a very neat and tasty building it appears to be.

—Mrs Sarah S. widow of the late Chief Justice Mercur, of Towanda, died at her home in that city early Monday morning.

—Henry Johnson's child, of East Smethport, that was so badly scalded with hot brine last week, is doing nicely and will recover.

—The farmers throughout the county are taking advantage of the knowledge gained at the institute and are tilling the soil accordingly.

—Over 23 000 people watched the opening game of base ball between the Boston and Philadelphia league teams last week Boston won 7 to 3.

—The coverings have been removed from the fountains on the court house lawn, which once more presents the appearance of summer.

—The Lyceum, at Bradford, was crowded last Monday night to hear General James B. Gordon lecture on the last days of the Confederacy.

—Miss Phœbe Gould, one of Bradford's brightest and most estimable young ladies, died early Tuesday morning of nervous prostration.

—Our local sports are having great fun leaving their snug beds in the early morning and wading around the streams shooting ducks. That's sport.

—What is the matter with our diciples of Isaac Walton? Several of them have been out fishing, and yet none of them report any large trout escaping.

—Butterworth, of Coudersport Enterprise, announces his return to the Republican party in his paper this week, and puts the ticket at the head of the editorial page.

—Coudersport and Renovo were visited by burglars last week. Gillon's tailor shop at the first named place was broken open and Ryder's meat market at the latter place was robbed.

—At the annual election held Tuesday night of the Bradford Fire Dep't, Jule Andrews was elected President. F Ward, Vice President; Edward McIntyre, Secretary; J. C. Greenwald, Treasurer.

—A young man from Ormsby took a fearful header from his wheel last Sunday in front of Specht & Sasse's store. The wheel was badly wrecked, but the young man escaped without any serious injuries.

—An attempt was made to rob the post office at Portville last Saturday morning about 3 o'clock, but they were discovered and driven away without getting any plunder. Considerable damage was done to the office.

—John Green, Jr., a boy aged about 13 years, of Mt. Alton, who was injured some time since by being thrown from the sidewalks by his playmates is suffering from peritonitis, but is gradually improving.

—The failure of the half-tone cut of Prof. Eckels to show up distinctly in the MINER of April 10 has had a tendency to give that gentleman a large amount of free advertising and will do more to attract attention to him than if an excellent portrait had been produced and will materially assist in his election.

—Now that Eldred people have set the pace in casting their ballots for Smethport candidates, to the exclusion of a neighbor, it is suggested that the school directors of Port Allegany and Annin and Liberty townships, follow the example and vote for a Smethport man for county superintendent. It's a fair scheme and a good one.—Reporter.

—Some newspapers cost more than others, even if all cost one price. The Buffalo Morning Express for instance, costs less at 50 cents a month than do some of its contemporaries which can be had cheaper. These other papers are worth what they cost. The Express probably is the only newspaper in these parts that is worth more than it costs. It has more news, better written and fresher, than its contemporaries, and thoroughly proves the old saying that "the best is the cheapest."

—Coudersport will have a grand 4th of July celebration.

—Alfred Kidder killed seven fine wild ducks last Tuesday.

—Butter is now selling at 18 cents a pound wholesale at the creamery.

—Several of the miners at Clermont have quit on account of low wages.

—The jury commissioners drew the jurors last Monday for the regular term of court which convenes June first.

—Frank Baker moved into one of Sartwell houses on Water street, opposite Mr. Purtle's repair shop last Tuesday.

—Thomas Purtle's planing mill and repair shop is now in working order and he is ready to do all kinds of work in his line.

—The Potter Commandry, No. 69, Knights Templers, will observe Ascension day at the Court House in Coudersport, May 14.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Taylor are rejoicing over the arrival of a bright girl baby which made an appearance at their home on Sunday last.

—The total number of farms in McKean county in 1890 was 1460; total number of acres 119,195; acres improved 64 029 Estimated value of crop raised in 1889 $536 520.

—The Y. W C. T. U will meet this (Friday night) at 7 30 in the Epworth Chapel. A full attendance of all members is desired as important business is to be transacted.

—Mrs Patsy Garren, a daughter of John O'Conner, of Mt. Alton, died very suddenly at three o'clock Tuesday morning of convulsions, caused by premature childbirth. She was aged about 20 years.

—Luther Jack, the Tuscurora chief, who was to have given an exhibition at the M. E church last Monday night, failed to arrive on account of sickness. Mr Sinborn says he will be here sometime in the near future.

—E M. Roberts, of the Boss Grocery, will move part of his large stock to McKean Switch, about two miles beyond Ormsby for and Bradford Mr. Roberts has a very desirable location at that place. There is quite a settlement located there. The MINER wishes him all the success he can desire.

—The bicycle repair shops lately erected by A. B. Kidder & Co. on Water street will be very convenient for all who ride the wheel and are so unfortunate as to break their bikes. The above firm are now ready to do all kinds of repairing in that line with neatness and dispatch.

—All honor to Mayor Fagnan, who is making an effort to stop all glove contests, both fake and genuine Such things only have a tendency to bring out what is brutal in a man. No man would care to take his wife to witness a glove contest, therefore if it is not a suitable place to take his life companion, he had better give it a wide place himself.

—Fred Gerwick, of Port Allegany, who has been nearly blind for a long time, recently received a check for $200 on a disability claim from the K. O. T M. Mr Gerwick will receive $200 annually for five years. The unfortunate gentleman is to be congratulated on belonging to such an excellent society as the K. O T. M

—The sound money faction of the Democratic party has the strongest grip on the situation at the present writing and a gold basis will form the foundation of the Democratic platform to be adopted in St. Louis —Era. This comes of Mr Dennison's visit to Superintendent of Police, of Buffalo, last week.. He found Buffalo such a lively city that he could not distinguish between Chicago and St. Louis.

CHAPTER II.

The laugh that instinctively broke from Clarence's lips was so sincere and unaffected that the man was disconcerted, and at last joined in it, a little shamefacedly. The grotesque blunder of being taken as a fugitive from justice relieved Clarence's mind from its acute tension, he was momentarily diverted, and it was not until the boatman had departed and he was again alone that it seemed to have any collateral significance.

Then an uneasy recollection of Susy's threat that she had the power to put his wife in Fort Alcatrez came across him.

Could she have already warned the municipal authorities, and this man—but he quickly remembered any action from such a warning could only have been taken by the United States marshal, and not by a civic official, and dismissed the idea.

Nevertheless, when the stage with its half-spent lamps still burning dimly against the morning light swept round the curve and rolled heavily up to the fice, he became watchful.

A single yawning individual in its doorway received a few letters and parcels, but Clarence was evidently the only waiting passenger. Any hope that he might have entertained that his mysterious predecessor would emerge from some seclusion at that moment, was disappointed.

As he entered the coach he made a rapid survey of his fellow-travelers, but satisfied himself that the stranger was not among them. They were mainly small traders or farmers, a miner or two, and apparently a Spanish-American of better degree and personality.

Possibly the circumstance that men of this class usually preferred to travel on horseback and were rarely seen in public conveyances attracted his attention, and their eyes met more than once, in mutual curiosity.

Presently Clarence addressed a remark to him in Spanish. He replied fluently and courteously, but at the next stopping place he asked a question of the expressman in an unmistakable Missouri accent.

Clarence's curiosity was satisfied; he was evidently one of those early American settlers who had been so long domiciled in southern California as to adopt the speech as well as the habiliments of the Spaniard.

The conversation fell upon the political news of the previous night, or rather seemed to be lazily continued from some previous more exciting discussion, in which one of the contestants, a red-bearded miner, had subsided into an occasional growl of surly dissent.

It struck Clarence that the Missourian had been an amused auditor, and even, judging from a twinkle in his eye, a mischievous instigator of the controversy. He was not surprised, therefore, when the man turned to him with a certain courtesy and said:

"And what, sir, is the political feeling in your district?"

But Clarence was in no mood to be drawn, and replied, almost curtly, that as he had come only from San Francisco, they were probably as well informed on that subject as himself.

A quick and searching glance from the stranger's eyes made him regret it, but in the silence that ensued the red-bearded passenger, evidently still rankling at heart, saw his opportunity.

Slapping his huge hands on his knees, and leaned far forward, until he seemed to plunge his flaming beard—like a firebrand—into the controversy, he said grimly:

"Well, I kin tell you gen'l'men this! It ain't goin' to be no matter wot's the political feeling here or thar—it ain't goin' to be no matter wot's state's rights and wot's fed'ral rights—it ain't goin' to be no question whether the gov'ment's got the right to relieve its own soldiers that those seceesh is besieging in Fort Sumter, or whether they haven't—but the first gun that's fired at the flag blows the chains off every blamed nigger south of Mason and Dixon's line! You hear me! I'm shoutin'! And whether you call yourselves 'secesh,' or 'union,' or 'copperhead,' or 'peace men,' you got to face it!"

There was an angry start in one or two of the seats; one man caught at the swinging side strap and half rose, a husky voice began: "It's a confounded—," and then all as suddenly subsided.

Every eye was turned to an insignificant figure in the back seat. It was a woman holding a child on her lap and gazing out of the window with her sex's profound unconcern in politics.

Clarence understood the rude chivalry of the road well enough to comprehend that this unconscious but omnipotent figure had, more than once that day, controlled the passions of the disputants. They dropped back weakly to their seats, and their mutterings rolled off in the rattle of the wheels.

Clarence glanced at the Missourian. He was regarding the red-bearded miner with a singular curiosity.

The rain had ceased, but the afternoon shadows were deepening when they at last reached Fair Plains, when Clarence expected to take horse to the rancho. He was astonished, however, to learn that all the horses in the stable were engaged, but remembering that some of his own stock were in pasturage with a tenant at Fair Plains, and that he should probably have a better selection, he turned his steps thither.

Passing out of the stable yard he recognised the Missourian's voice in whispered conversation with the proprietor, but the two men withdrew into the shadow as he approached.

More impressed by the occurrence than he cared to admit, when at last, after some delay, he had secured his horse, and was once more in the saddle, he kept a sharp lookout for his quondam companion.

But here another circumstance added to his suspicions; there was a main road leading to Santa Inez, the next town, and the rancho, and this Clarence had purposely taken in order to watch the Missourian—but there was a cut-off directly to the rancho, known only to habitues of the rancho.

After a few moments rapid riding on a mustang much superior to any in the hotel stables, he was satisfied that the stranger must have taken the cut-off. Putting spurs to his horse, he trusted still to precede him to the rancho—if that was his destination.

As he dashed along the familiar road, by a strange perversity of fancy, instead of thinking of his purpose, he found himself recalling the first time he had ridden that way in the flush of his youth and hopefulness.

The girl-sweetheart he was then going to rejoin—was now the wife of another; the woman who had been her guardian was now his own wife. He had accepted without a pang the young girl's dereliction, but it was through her revelation that he was now about to confront the dereliction of his own wife.

And this was the reward of his youthful trust and loyalty! A bitter laugh broke from his lips. It was part of his still youthful self-delusion that he believed himself wiser and stronger for it.

It was quite dark when he reached the upper field or first terrace of the rancho. He could see the white walls of the casa rising dimly out of the green sea of early wild grasses, like a phantom island.

It was here that the "cut-off" joined the main road—now the only one that led to the casa. He was satisfied that no one could have preceded him from Fair Plains; but it was true that he must take precautions against his own discovery.

Dismounting near a clump of willows, he unsaddled and unbridled his horse, and with the cut of the riata over its haunches sent it flying across the field in the direction of a band of feeding mustangs, which it presently joined. Then keeping well in the shadow of a belt of scrub-oaks he skirted the long lesser terrace of the casa, intending to approach the house by way of the old garden and corral.

A drizzling rain, occasionally driven by the wind into long misty curtain-like waves, obscured the prospect and favored his design. He reached the low adobe wall of the corral in safety; looking over he could detect in spite of the darkness that a number of the horses were of alien brands, and even recognized one or two from the Santa Inez district.

The vague outlines of buggies and carryalls filled the long shed beside the stables. There was company at the casa—so far Susy was right.

Nevertheless, lingering still by the walls of the old garden, for the deepening of night, his nervous feverishness was again invaded and benumbed by sullen memories. There was the opening left by the old grille in the wall, behind which Mrs. Peyton stood on the morning when he thought he was leaving the ranch forever—where he had first clasped her in his arms, and stayed; a turn of the head, a moment's indecision, a single glance of a languorous eye, had brought this culmination.

And now he stood again before that ruined grille, his house and lands, even his name, misused by a mad, scheming adventuress, and himself a creeping spy of his own dishonor.

He turned with a bitter smile again to the garden. A few dark Castilian roses still leaned forward and swayed in the wind with dripping leaves. It was here that the first morning of his arrival he had kissed Susy; the perfume and color of her pink skin came back to him with a sudden shock as he stood there; he caught at the flower, drew it toward him and inhaled its odor in a long breath that left him faint and leaning against the wall.

Then again he smiled, but this time more wickedly—in what he believed his cynicism had sprung up the first instinct of revenge!

It was now dark enough for him to venture across the carriage road and make his way to the rear of the house. His first characteristic instinct had been to enter openly at his own front gate—but the terrible temptation to overhear and watch the conspiracy unobserved—that fascination common to deceived humanity to witness its own shame—had grown upon him. He knew that a word or a gesture of explanation, apology, appeal, or even terror from his wife would check his rage and weaken his purpose.

His perfect knowledge of the house and the security of its inmates would enable him from some obscure landing or gallery to participate in any secret conclave they might hold in the patio—the only place suitable for so numerous a rendezvous. The absence of light in the few external windows pointed to this central gathering. And he had already conceived his plan of entrance.

Gaining the rear wall of the casa he began cautiously to skirt its brambly base, until he had reached a long, oven-like window, half obliterated by a monstrous passion vine.

It was the window of what had once been Mrs. Peyton's boudoir; the window by which he had once forced an entrance to the house when it was in the hands of the squatters; the window from which Susy had signaled her

With the aid of the passion vine the ingress was easy. The interior window was open; the rustle of dark leaves on the bare floor as he entered and the whirr of a frightened bird by his ear told the story of its desolation and the source of the strange noises that had been heard there.

The door leading to the corridor was lightly bolted, merely to keep it from rattling in the wind. Slipping the bolt with the blade of his pocketknife, he peered into the dark passage. The light streaming under the door to the left and the sound of voices convinced him that his conjecture was right, and the meeting was gathered on the broad balconies around the patio.

He knew that a narrow gallery, faced with Venetian blinds to exclude the sun, looked down upon them. He managed to gain it without discovery; luckily the blinds were still down. Between their slats, himself invisible, he could hear and see everything that occurred.

Yet even at that supreme moment the first thing that struck him was the almost ludicrous contrast between the appearance of the meeting and its tremendous object.

Whether he was influenced by any previous boyish conception of a cloudy and gloomy conspiracy, he did not know, but he was for an instant almost disconcerted by the apparent levity and festivity of the conclave. Decanters and glasses stood on small tables before them; nearly all were drinking and smoking.

They comprised 15 or 20 men, some whose faces were familiar to him elsewhere as southern politicians; a few, he was shocked to see, were well-known northern democrats.

Occupying a characteristically central position was the famous Col. Starbottle, of Virginia. Jaunty and youthful looking in his mask-like, beardless face, expressive and dignified in his middle-aged port and carriage, he alone retained something of the importance—albeit slightly theatrical and affected—of the occasion.

Clarence, in his first hurried glance, had not observed his wife, and for a moment had felt relieved.

But as Col. Starbottle arose at that moment, and with a studiously chivalrous and courtly manner turned to his right, he saw that she was sitting at the further end of the balcony, and that a man whom he recognized as Capt. Pinckney was standing beside her.

The blood quickly tightened around his heart, but left him cold and observant.

It was seldom, indeed, remarked Col. Starbottle, placing his fat white fingers in the frill of his shirt front, that a movement like this was graced with the actual presence of a lofty, inspiring yet delicate spirit—a Boadicea—indeed, he might say a Joan of Arc—in the person of their very charming hostess, Mrs. Brant.

Not only were they favored by her social and hospitable ministration, but by her active and enthusiastic cooperation in the glorious work they had in hand. It was through her correspondence and earnest advocacy that they were to be favored to-night with the aid and counsel of one of the most distinguished and powerful men in the southern district of California, Judge Beeswinger, of Los Angeles.

He had not the honor of that gentleman's personal acquaintance; he believed he was not far from wrong in saying that this was also the misfortune of every gentleman present, but the name itself was a tower of strength. He would go further and say that Mrs. Brant herself was personally unacquainted with him, but that it was through the fervor, poetry, grace and genius of her correspondence with that gentleman that they were to have the honor of his presence that very evening. It was understood that advices had been received of his departure, and that he might be expected at Robles at any moment.

"But what proof have we of Judge Beeswinger's soundness?" said a lazy southern voice at the conclusion of Col. Starbottle's periods. "Nobody here seems to know him by sight; is it not risky to admit a man to our meeting whom we are unable to identify?"

"I reckon nobody but a fool or some prying mudsill of a Yankee would trust his skin here," returned another, "and if he did we'd know what to do with him."

But Clarence's attention was riveted on his wife, and the significant speech passed him as unheeded as had the colonel's rhetoric. She was looking very handsome and slightly flushed, with a proud light in her eyes that he had never seen before.

Absorbed in the discussion, she seemed to be paying little attention to Capt. Pinckney, as she rose suddenly to her feet.

"Judge Beeswinger will be attended here by Mr. MacNiel of the Fair Plains hotel, who will vouch for him and introduce him," she said in a clear voice which rang with an imperiousness that Clarence well remembered. "The judge was to arrive by the coach from Martinez to Fair Plains, and is due now."

"But is there no gentleman to introduce him? Must we take him on the word of a common trader—by Jove, a whisky seller!" continued the previous voice, sneeringly.

"On the word of a lady, Mr. Brooks," said Capt. Pinckney, with a slight gesture toward Mrs. Brant, "who answers for both."

Clarence had started slightly at his wife's voice and the information it conveyed. His fellow-passenger and the Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phœbe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos Eggers, 139 Florida St., California, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at A. W. Colegrove's and A. B. Armstrong & Co.'s drug stores. Regular size 50c and $1 00.

LITERARY NOTES.

"Harper's Weekly" for April 25 will contain an excellent portrait of Gladstone from the painting in St. Deintol's library at Hawarden. There will also be a full page portrait of Cardinal Satolli, by John W. Alexander. Among the noteworthy articles we may mention an illustrated descriptive paper on Egypt and the Soudan, with reference to the present Anglo-Egyptian advance against the Dervishes: and a continuation of Timothy Pitkin's important articles on the governing classes in Turkey.

Harper's Magizine
IN 1896
Brisela, a new novel by WILLIAM BLACK, written with all the author's well known charm of manner, will begin in the December Number, 1895, and continue until May. A new novel by GEORGE DU MAURIER, entitled The Martians, will also begin during the year. It is not too much to say that no novel has ever been awaited with such great expectation as the successor to Trilby. The Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc will continue and will relate the story of the failure and martyrdom of the Maid of Orleans. Other important fiction of the year will be a novelette by MARK TWAIN, under the title, Tom Sawyer, Detective: a humorous three-part tale called Two Mormons from Muddleby, by LANGDON ELWYN MITCHELL; and short stories by OCTAVE THANET, RICHARD HARDING DAVIS, MARY E. WILKINS, JULIAN RALPH, BRANDER MATTHEWS, OWEN WISTER, and other well-known writers.
Prof. WOODROW WILSON will contribute six papers on George Washington and his times, with illustrations by HOWARD PYLE. POULTNEY BIGELOW's history of The German Struggle for Liberty, illustrated by E. CAVEN WOODVILLE, will be continued through the winter. Two papers on St. Clair's defeat and Mad Anthony Wayne's victory, by THEODORE ROOSEVELT, with graphic illustrations will be printed during the year.
A noteworthy feature of the Magazine during 1896 will be a series of articles by CASPER W. WHITNEY, describing his trip of 2000 miles on snow-shoes and with dog-sledge trains into the unexplored Barren Grounds of British North America in pursuit of wood-bison and musk-oxen. Mr. WHITNEY's series will have the added interest of being illustrated from photographs taken by himself.
The Volumes of the Magazine begin with the Numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order.
Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance or loss.

Harper's Weekly
IN 1896.
Harper's Weekly is a journal of the whole country. It deals with the news of the world that are important to Amer
In carrying out this policy, JULIAN RALPH visited China and Japan and journeyed through the West; RICHARD HARDING DAVIS took a trip through the Caribbean Sea; the evolutions of the navy were described and illustrated; RUFUS F. ZOGBAUM; FREDERIC REMINGTON presented studies of American Frontier life; POULTNEY BIGELOW described the opening of the Kiel Canal.
In 1896 like attention will be given to every notable happening. The events in art, literature, and the drama will be presented. W. D. HOWELLS, in his department, Life and Letters, will discuss in his interesting way books and the questions of the time. E. S. MARTIN's epigrigity gossip of the Easy Chair will be continued. The progress of the Immigration Commission around the world will be followed, and CASPER W. WHITNEY will conduct the department of Amateur Sport.
In 1896 will occur a Presidential election. In its editorials and through its cartoons the Weekly will continue its independent advocate of good government and sound money.
In fiction the Weekly will be especially strong. It will publish the only complete novel of the year by W. D. HOWELLS, a thrilling serial of a Scotch feud, by S. R. CROCKETT. The short stories will be of unusual excellence and interest. In every respect Harper's Weekly will maintain its leading place in the front rank of journalism of the world.
The Volumes of the Weekly begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of Order.
Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chances or loss.

A. P. A. WAR ON McKINLEY

The Order Invades the Ohioan's Own Bailiwick.

NOW IN SESSION IN CINCINNATI.

A Statement Given Out "Correcting Some Erroneous Statements of the Press." As to Linton's Candidacy—Various Other Political Matters.

CINCINNATI, April 21.—Since last Thursday there has been here a national meeting of the supreme officers and national executive boards of the A. P. A. Members have not registered at the hotels, in fact, most of them have slept at boarding houses. Among those present are Supreme President W. H. Trainor, Toledo; Supreme Secretary C. T. Beatty, Chicago; National Executive Committeeman T. L. Thompson of Chicago, and many others. Officers from Ohio and other states will arrive today. Their purpose is confessedly political and hostile to McKinley for president.

Judge J. H. Stevens of St. Louis, chairman of the national advisory committee and chairman of the propaganda and campaign committee, issued a circular to correct some "misstatements in the press," the substance of which is:

"The hostility of the organization to McKinley is not against him as a man, but against him for his antipathy to the order shown in his appointments while governor.

"The order does not oppose McKinley or any other man because of his religion. The order made every effort consistent with manhood to reach McKinley without success.

"Congressman Grosvenor's denial that he refused to see the A. P. A. committee and that he virtually insulted it, is untrue.

"All statements of Congressman Linton's withdrawing at St. Louis are unauthorized and they are sent out by enemies of the A. P. A. to defeat its aim.

"Mr. Linton is neither directing any movement for his nomination nor making a personal effort in that direction. On the contrary, the A. P. A., recognizing him as their leader, and knowing him to be too good an American to refuse to do what patriotic citizens of this country request him, have taken him up as their candidate before the St. Louis convention. All statements on this matter assigned by the club are untrustworthy."

Massachusetts Democratic Convention.

BOSTON, April 21.—The eve of a Democratic state convention is usually lively, but this year was the contrary. There was little excitement, although numbers of delegates from all sections of the state are here and have made their headquarters at the Quincy House, where the executive committee were in session for several hours.

There was considerable speculation as to the outcome of the struggle between James E. Donovan, chairman of the city committee, and John B. Moran, for a place on the delegation-at-large to the Chicago convention, but later is was generally understood that Mr. Moran had practically given up the fight owing to the tremendous odds against him. It is now expected that the convention will move on the plan mapped out by the leaders.

Boy Train Wreckers on Trial.

ROME, N. Y., April 21.—The trial of the boy train wreckers began here, the time being taken up by the calling of the 200 extra jurymen. Of the extra panel, 44 were excused, and of the old panel of 36, three were excused until 9:30 a. m. today, when the work of securing a jury was commenced. The offering in evidence by District Attorney Klock of the confession of the boys will be vigorously opposed by Mr. Sayles, counsel for the defense. A number of Central railroad detectives are here to attend the trial.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor any other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price 50c and $1.00 per bottle at A. W. Colegrove's and A. B. Armstrong & Co.'s drug stores.

Relief in Six Hours.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder diseases relieved in six hours by the "New Great South American Kidney Cure. This new remedy is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the bladder, kidneys, back and every part of the urinary passages in male or female. It relieves retention of water and pain in passing it almost immediately. If you want quick relief and cure this is your remedy. Sold by A. B. Armstrong, Druggist, Smethport, Pa.

T. F. Anthony, Ex-Postmaster of Promise City, Iowa, says: "I bought one bottle of 'Mystic Cure' for Rheumatism and two doses of it did me more good than all the medicine I ever took." Sold by A. B. Armstrong, Druggist Smethport, Pa.

LADIES UNDER FIFTY YEARS

How often have you planked down two dollars for a box of so-called pennyroyal—tansy—ergotine—cotton root, etc., etc., Female Pills, with ten thousand testimonials thrown in, and have taken them as directed with addition of a last of herb teas—with the same old result, disappointment—time wasted—lots of trouble and expense, but no good—no relief—wiser in experience—poorer in purse. Why don't you use better judgment?

DR. DeKOVEN'S

Compound Pennyroyal and Tansy Pills

Are superior to all other female pills offered for sale. How should you know this? By observing that every agent who sells them is authorized to refund money to all who are not satisfied. Just say they did not give satisfaction and you will receive one dollar, price paid, without ceremony. Dr. DeKoven's Pennyroyal and Tansy Pills are always reliable—are always safe. They always act promptly. They never disappoint. They regulate the menstrual functions by removing the cause. They restore suppressed flow. They prevent anxiety. They save doctors' bills. Why then not keep yourself healthy by using them when necessary? They do the business.

A QUAINT RESORT.

Represents a Ship on Shore and Manned by a Crew in Uniform.

There's a saloon located in the down town district where you can splice the main brace in the most correct nautical language. Here the thirsty are served by a ship's officer dressed in full naval uniform. The bartender and his crew of assistants appear in naval dress, which includes swords and other side arms and any amount of gold lace. The novel crew comes on duty every evening. The daylight crew are garbed like the ordinary "beer slingers" of that part of town. Inside this quaint saloon so closely resembles an old time packet ship's cabin that one can stretch his imagination to the verge of seasickness and not half try. The entrance is from one of the city's busiest arteries, near Vesey and Greenwich streets. Old brass nautical lamps, that have seen lots of service in all sorts of weather, hang from the ceiling by chains. Several ancient and dilapidated figureheads, which have faced the storms of many years at sea, stare at the scenes of revelry from corners.

The walls are hung with relics of many voyages. Pieces of rope, old marine prints, portraits of famous skippers of the long ago, models carved by sailor men, old flags, many of which floated from historic battleships, and other bric-a-brac of the brine, decorate this nautical taproom, whose proprietor is attired in the full uniform of a commodore of the United States navy. Her "crew" consists of representative officers usually found aboard a man-of-war, properly uniformed, as well as an occasional sailor who appears in the triple blue "togs" of Uncle Sam's men who swing their hammocks in the forecastle. These are no imitation sailors, for every man Jack of them is a veteran of the ocean and rolls about as if on shipboard. The marine delusion extends to the old ship's clock which hangs over the bar. It reels off bells instead of hours, for here the time is passed in the choicest sea gibberish. If you should ever steer your craft through the low doorway of this nautical saloon, the chances are that you'll clutch at something before you are anyway near half seas over.

Of course the old salts ashore here are the chief patrons of this old refreshment room. The custom of using only nautical terms in carrying on the ordinary business of the place fascinates Jack, and he'll walk a long way for the sake of being served in his own language. The commodore stands at one end of the bar and shouts his orders to his crew, as if he were stationed on the bridge of some man-of-war. One hears such orders as "Avast there!" "Stand by to let go!" "Hard a lee!" "Keep her off half a point!" and similar expressions that the sailor knows so well. Drinks are ordered in names which are absolutely unintelligible to landlubbers. The evening is never a success unless a great many of these orders are first given and obeyed. The favorite nautical term is, "Stand by to let go!" This is given when the glasses have all been filled and are being held in the hands of a crowd of sailors. After Jack feels mellow, then the yarn spinning begins.—New York Letter in Pittsburg Dispatch.

What Is Fatigue?

Fatigue is the natural result of labor, and as such is a periodic symptom with which every healthy person is familiar.

It is one of the laws of organic life that periods of relaxation shall succeed periods of activity. The heart itself is normally in repose for about one-third of the time consumed by each beat—a fact in which there is something particularly suggestive and interesting, since physiologists agree that about one-third of the 24 hours should be devoted to sleep.

Life is made up of a series of vibrations in which tension and rest succeed each other. The heart vibrates about 70 times a minute; the vibrations of the respiratory organs occur about 16 times in the same period, while the vibrations of the whole organism may be said to complete their cycle once in 24 hours. Abnormal fatigue, a state approaching exhaustion, occurs when one attempts to alter nature's rhythm, when the hours of tension are made to encroach upon those which should be devoted to rest, when muscle and nerve already fatigued are driven to further exertion. Fatigue of a kind known as overtraining results, in the case of the athlete, in heart weakness and shortness of breath—"loss of wind," as it is called—while the long continued fatigue occasioned by excessive application to professional or business pursuits results in nervous prostration or even in paralysis.

While excessive fatigue is in itself unwise, one of the chief dangers which results from it is that commonly indicated by the term "catching cold." Thus the danger of sitting in a draft or on the damp ground is many times doubled after great exertion. The application of heat to the surface is a more logical procedure after extreme fatigue.

Loss of sleep is one of the first symptoms of abnormal fatigue. Habitual insomnia from this cause is to be treated only in one way, by absolute rest.—Youth's Companion.

What a Boy Can Do.

A recent poem in the children's page asks, "What can a boy do anyhow?" Well, by the proper use of a tack he can make his pa talk in four different languages; by dropping a little ammonia on her back he can make the family cat drill a hole through the woodshed; by his free and disingenuous conversation to his sister's best young man he can make that sister cherish pessimistic feelings toward the universe. What can't a boy do!—Minneapolis Journal.

A Wearisome Fellow.

"Major Bluffton does a great deal of talking about himself and his experiences. He is a very commonplace man."

"Still, his stories have the merit of being true."

"Yes. They are too true to be good."

Many cases of so called heart disease, are only cases of acid fermentation in the stomach. The irritation from the acid hinders the action of the heart, through the pneumogastric nerve, and very often the excessive straining power of this peculiarly acting nerve, becomes a very serious matter; the heart makes the greatest effort to do its work, but there is a shortness of breath which cannot be made up for, and the feeling throughout the chest is very distressing. Sometimes this acid arises and causes an acrid smarting in the throat; at other times the burning is up and down the chest.

Another stomach trouble is that form of dyspepsia which gives pain after eating. Persons with this disease seem to have but a scant measure of nerve strength; when food is being digested, the stomach needs the concentration of all of the nerve and brain force, and if reading or close thought is attempted soon after eating, the stomach commences that intolerable aching which dyspeptics dread so much, when, the only immediate relief appears to be to stop the mental activity and get up and move around. In such cases there is evidently for the time being, too little nerve power to divide between the stomach and the brain; each one alone needs it all to enable it to perform its labor.

There are two properties possessed by Dr. Day's Stomach and Nerve Tonic, which constitute it a cure for all of the above derangements. One, is its power of purifying and sweetening the stomach and stopping the formation of gas and acid; the other is the giving of increased nerve action and strength. Soon, with better digestion and better nutrition, there is a general renewal of life and health. The mind of a business man, under its use, soon become clearer and more active, thoughts come easier and are more clearly expressed, the memory is stronger, business plans and ventures are arranged in a better manner and are more patiently and successfully carried out, and details are attended to better because of the increased strength of both mind and muscle.

Women having the care of a household on their minds, find Dr. Day's Stomach and Nerve Tonic to be a great blessing; it gives better digestion, better nutrition, more strength, cures that feeling of weariness in the morning, that anxiety of mind, that fear that something is going wrong or that something bad is going to happen; cures dizziness, shortness of breath, pressure through the chest; belching of wind, rumbling in the bowels, heartburn, and all forms of dyspepsia that come from weakness.

Mrs. Eben Pierce, of Boric, Potter Co. Pa., write: "I can truthfully say that I owe my life to your stomach and nerve tonic; I was troubled with my stomach for over a year and tried everything I could hear of, but did not get any benefit. I was nearly in despair, for although I had only four in my family, I could not begin to do the work for them; an anxious friend wrote me to try Dr. Day's Stomach and Nerve Tonic, and I did; I did not expect to ever get any better, but was greatly relieved on taking the first dose and now after taking only one bottle of your remedy I can do my work and my stomach does not hurt me only when I do very heavy work: I shall continue its use until I am entirely cured, for I am perfectly satisfied that it will cure all such stomach trouble. I thank you dear Doctor, a thousand times over, for putting before the public such a wonderful remedy for human suffering."

Mrs. Albert Harman, of 2305 Fifth Ave., Altoona, Pa., writes, "Dr. Day's Stomach and Nerve Tonic has done me a power of good; that burning after meals has left me; I have always been so nervous that I would take nervous spells so bad sometimes that I would have to send for the doctor, but have not had one since I commenced using your stomach and nerve tonic."

H. C. Beatty, Barkeyville, Pa., says: "For years I had a severe pain in my stomach after meals; one bottle of Dr. Day's Stomach and Nerve Tonic cured me; I think permanently."

J. C. Fulton, of Burgettstown, Pa., writes, "I have been afflicted with the rheumatism and was laid up in bed a good part of the time; my stomach was in a bad condition and would not retain food. I began to use Dr. Day's Stomach and Nerve Tonic it not only helped my stomach but relieved me of the rheumatism and also increased my weight wonderfully."

girl with her aged father. "Mountain Home" was soon to be sold under a mortgage, it was with joy that the old father welcomed as a suitor for his daughter's hand an old and wealthy friend of his youth, who, having come to pay him a visit, had fallen in love with the charming girl. She, having lived so long in poverty, was quite carried away by the tales told her by the rich old friend regarding the wealth and splendor of his city home, and he offered her land, gold and diamonds if she would become his bride. She had a dark-eyed mountain lover, who was too poor to offer her anything but roses.

WHICH DID SHE CHOOSE?

The question is answered in the (3) verse song and chorus entitled:

"DIAMONDS OR ROSES,"

Words and Music by C. H. ADDISON.

This is one of the most catchy, brilliant and fascinating songs ever published, and is now being sung with great success in all the large cities. Price 40 cents.

ANOTHER NEW LINE of Pantaloons have just been received.

It is now getting so U can take long rides on your Bikes, and we can fit you out with a pair of pantaloons that will take the place of Bloomers and look ever so much nicer.

See our line of $2.50 all wool Sweaters at $1.50.

We have a small sized pair of pantz on exhibition, which were made 2 order. They measure 49 inches around waist and leg 30 inches, which beats the record for size. We have had 20 pair of giant size pantz made 2 order and all have been well pleased. Of course, it costs 25c more for these jumbo sizes, but then U get your pantz made 2 order and it only costs U $2 44, while common sizes has always sold at $4 50.

Hand seeders, $1. 25: crank churn, the Noble $2 80.

If you will buy a bottle of DeWitt's Stomach Bitters, they will brace U up and put new life into U, and the little early risers will call you. They R much more reliable than the alarm clock, and the 1 minute cough cure will stop that tickling sensation and give you immediate relief. We R so positive of its good merits that we will refund your money if U R not satisfied.

Our beds from $2 07 to $2.45 can't be beat. Look at them.

Poor, Indeed!

There are degrees and kinds of poverty, just as there are differences of opinion among those who compute and measure poverty and riches by different standards. Some men deem themselves poor because they are less rich than others, again there are comparatively poor people who are satisfied with a competence There is a kind of poverty for which no amount of wealth can compensate, namely, a poverty of bodily stamina, evinced by nervousness and a derangement of the functions of digestion, biliious secretion and the bowels. To restore vigor upon a permanent basis there is one remedy that fully covers the requirements. "fills the bill," and this is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. By restoring digestion, giving a healthful impulse to the action of the bowels and liver and tranquilizing the nerves, it fulfills the condition necessary to a resumption of strength by the system. It also overcomes malaria and rheumatism.
